

POWAKADDY'S WHITE SPIRIT

New colour option for Freeway II.

PowaKaddy has added a striking new white colour option to the state-of-the-art Freeway II range of electric trolleys.

The all-white Freeway II boasts all the same features as the best-selling black version launched this year, including the powerful whisper-quiet motor, soft-touch hand grip, multi-function control pad and fully-integrated LCD display.

Electric trolley experts PowaKaddy have also introduced three new Deluxe II Cart Bags in a white base colour to match the new white Freeway II.

The new colour options which are available are white/scarlet red, white/ocean blue, white/lime green (pictured).

Trolley from £479, bags £130.

www.powakaddy.com

Three new Deluxe II bags enable you to combine the new Freeway II with a matching bag.

BITS AND PIECES

New Nike VR putter?

Rumours abound that Nike is set to unveil a new line of Victory Red putters – after both Paul Casey and Trevor Immelman were spotted using new models on Tour. The putters would complement the existing VR iron and wedge range, inspired by Tiger Woods' choice of colour on the final day of events.

Father's Day gift

Titleist is riding to the rescue of anyone stuck for a Father's Day present for golf-mad dads with a free personalised ball service. The service allows you to add three lines of text to the balls for a unique Father's Day message and is available on Titleist's full ball range. Orders must be placed by June 10. www.titleist.co.uk

Another GG winner

Galvin Green's new range of Jason golf shirts look like a winner in the style, comfort and performance stakes. The Jason, made of Coolmax freshFX fabric, is designed to give maximum freedom of swing, have a high level of breathability and consistently retain shape, size and that 'new' feel after washing. Available in three colours: fog/black, black/white and green/white. £79

www.galvingreen.com

Nikon's range finder

Nikon has launched a new laser rangefinder specifically optimised for golf. The LRF 350G (the G stands for golf) measures distances up to 500m and features Nikon's First Target Priority mode for quick and accurate measurement of the distance to the pin, even with woods in the background. Compact, lightweight and waterproof – although Nikon helpfully point out it is not for underwater usage. £195 www.europe-nikon.com

NEW GEAR WORTH A LOOK

BENROSS HYBRID

Benross has updated its hybrid with the new Innovator X Fairbrids.

The set of four Fairbrids is designed to fit in perfectly anywhere between a driver and a 5-iron. With lofts from 15° to 24°, there is 3° difference between each club.

The Fairbrid family incorporates a wide-body design which increases MOI and delivers extra forgiveness and the company says a similar and familiar shape throughout the range increases confidence at address.

£80, www.benrossgolf.com

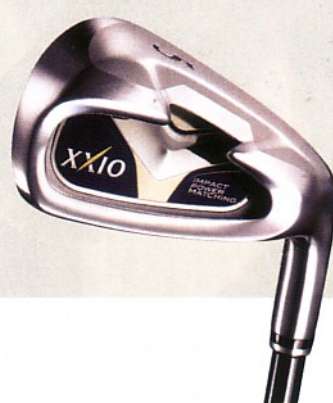

SRIXON XX10 IRONS

Srixon's XX10 irons for 2009 are an update on the version first launched nine years ago and the set has a 15 per cent larger sweetspot than its predecessor.

This is achieved by the use of 60g nickel weights in a dumbbell shape, pushing more weight towards the heel and the toe.

The result is a three-piece forged construction with a titanium face, making the clubs easier to hit higher and further with optimum trajectory and low spin.

£799, www.srixon.co.uk

BAG BOY AUTOMATIC

Bag Boy has launched its innovative Automatic golf trolley in the UK.

The cart, which is popular in the USA, is golf's only one-step folding push-trolley, which can be opened and closed in seconds. This design also features low profile, wide-contact wheels to cut weight and make it easier to pull, fully-adjustable bag brackets to ensure it fits most bags, a drinks holder and handle-mounted parking brake to stop it rolling away.

£169.99, www.bagboy.co.uk

